OTTO T. HAMILTON

To Otto T. Hamilton who was our counselor, teacher, and friend as well as our superintendent, we, the students of Fairmount High School, fondly and respectfully dedicate this annual.

Although there are many concrete evidences of his endeavors which stand as monuments to his service, the greatest is that which can neither be measured nor seen, but which may be found in the lives of our students.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT

(L. D. Holliday, School Physician)

The health department of the public school system is fast becoming an important factor in the efficiency of the general program of the school work. First, anyone will admit that a sick child breaks down the chain of action necessary to promote the best results that are to be obtained by a complete and normal functioning of the system. Second, a sick child affects the entire system, for the reason that he at once becomes a liability not only as a unit out of tune with the general program, but as a menace to the entire school body, especially if this illness or subnormal condition is due to contagious disease, to say nothing of the possible loss of life, which may indirectly or directly result. Now with these points established one may easily feel that the position of the health department is important, that is when it can function properly.

This as well as all things that pertain to the best interests of the entire system costs money and if the sufficient funds are not at hand one cannot expect this to function properly. It is necessary to provide enough money for this purpose if we are to expect the best results. The proper health department of any institution would be one which consisted of a body of men or women composed of members of the official board and as many others as were needed, headed by the school physician. All questions of policy and matters of emergency should be acted upon by this body.

The rules and regulations of our department are made with the idea of obtaining the best results for the student body and not for the convenience of any one person or group of persons. There have been a few that have taken the position that they are of no value and merely made to create trouble. We would feel vain if such were not the case, for if we did not receive complaints, we would not know that the system was working. As a matter of fact the public as a whole has been very fair and the department wants to express its appreciation.

Not so long ago it was a common thing to have the schools closed for a period of from two to six weeks for the reason that disease not under control was making inroads upon the student body and causing the death of from six to twelve children a year, to say nothing about the loss of time of the teaching force, the broken chain of the system and the reputation obtained by our fair city. This is largely a thing of the past and I wish to state that this is due to the fine spirit shown by everyone concerned, the public, the physicians, the school, the teaching force and the town board.

Aside from other things, the most definite thing accomplished last year was the giving of the Schick test and the Toxin-Anti-Toxin. While two known cases of Diphtheria have developed in children that have had the Toxin-Anti-Toxin, this was, no doubt, due to the fact that in fifteen per cent of cases it has been found that the three doses of the Toxin-Anti-Toxin are not sufficient to produce immunity. Therefore, all should have taken the Schicks test at a later date to determine this point. The reason it was not done, was lack of funds. We are very sorry this thing occurred, but it in no way lessens the value of the process. As anyone will have to admit by actual record, we have had less of the disease among school children this year than ever before.

This department wishes to thank each and everyone who has made it possible for the Fairmount High School to have a health department and to state that this department as all other parts of this fine school system has at all times the interest of the student body at heart. It stands ready to receive any suggestions for its betterment at any time from anyone. We trust in the future that we will at all times be able to render efficient service at all times.

THE SENIOR CLASS PROPHECY

Since graduating from high school I have had a successful musical and family career. On a recent musical tour I heard from most of my old classmates of the Senior Class of '25 and saw many at the class reunion.

While in Boston I heard Donald Buller play with the Boston Symphony Orchestra and in Cleveland, Ohio, I heard the famous "Radio" jazz orchestra play. In the latter orchestra Marie Smith, as violinist, and Miriam Overman, as cornet-soloist, were taking a big place in its star company. Opal Powers was working as a cashier in Cleveland's leading theater and enjoying life fully.

While enroute to Indianapolis and home, I noticed a large write-up in the newspaper about the new feather-weight champion of the United States—HUGH HENDERSON!!! Finally I arrived in the "Hoosier" capital. Here I met Mildred Waymire, supervisor of music in the public schools; John Whybrew, a professor in the John Herron Art Institute, and Mabel Brown, a dancing teacher. From these friends I learned that several of the class of '25 were still living in or near Fairmount and so I went there.

Helen Leach, who had married Lloyd Smith, arranged a reunion of the old class members. Helen and Lloyd are keeping a grocery-dry goods store in Fairmount. Those at the home-coming were: Melver Cain, a professor of sociology at Marion College; Verne Lewis, a celebrated matinee idol; Frances Murray, a well-known society matron of Point Isabel; Lillian Pierce, star horse-back rider of the Ringling Brothers' Circus; Charles ("Cork") Smithson, blackface comedian of vaudeville in Memphis, Tennessee; Lucille Spence, the wife of Harold Jay, who is the new junk man in Fairmount; Marjorie Underwood, Zola Harrold, and Carolyn Wallace, housewives living near Hackleman; Esther Wright, a practicing lawyer in Summitville; Bertha Comer, a matron of the Old Ladies' Home in Indianapolis, and Marie Wallace, a returned missionary from central Africa. We had such a good time that we planned for a reunion for next year.

In Chicago so many people were talking about the great rector of St. John's Episcopal Church that I decided to see him. The popular man proved to be Gerald Eddy. Celia Hayworth, who is the wife of Merl Ross, the automobile manufacturer, and I visited a Charity Ball where the music was given by the "Baby Doll" jazz orchestra of Detroit. The leading cornetist was "Greg" Dale, the popular song composer, who started to fame from the F. H. S. Orchestra. "Greg" told us that Myron Harvey, now the wealthy owner of some flour mills in St. Paul, had won an important shooting match recently.

At this point in my travels I went to Vancouver. In the railroad station I saw Kathlen Cain clerking at one of the familiar notion counters. She told me that Ernest Blair owned a large ranch in Wyoming and that Pauline Brewer was the wife of a miner in Nevada. Ruth Hildebrand was a bathing beauty with Mack Sennett's famous troupe in Los Angeles and Raymond Jones was an engineer in Alaska somewhere. The papers also contained the news that Luther Kimes had been appointed a special minister to Siam from the United States.

I needed some rest and so I joined a tourist party traveling along the Columbia River. Our guide was William Monahan.

I visited a session of the Fruit Growers' Association convention and heard the best speaker on the program—Luther Burkett. "Bucket" said later that "Chick" Lafler was the athletic coach of the Leland Stanford University. I learned that Cecil Brown was the wife of Professor Du Bois, the well-known French surgeon. She was using a fountain pen that I had seen advertised so much and she told me that Alva Corwin was manufacturing the pens. In a lovely, picturesque studio in a small town in New Mexico I came upon Robert Zike working away on a portrait of Dr. Hamilton, the famous educator of F. H. S. and later Indiana University. Robert had almost finished the picture, which was a perfect likeness of the man we loved so well.

Fred Burnside and his wife (formerly Mabel Coffin) were living in Brazil where Fred, as correspondent for the "New York World," was a prominent man. Mabel said that Forest Carter was growing coffee near there and that Ruth Comer was an interpreter for the ambassador in Vienna.

This was the end of my tour and so I returned to my home in Rochester, N. Y. Before I quit, however, I must say good-bye to my classmates of the class of '25.

THE LYCEUM COURSE

A lyceum course consisting of four numbers was presented to the people of Fairmount and community during the winter of 1924-1925. The numbers were furnished by the Brown Lyceum Company under the auspices of the Senior Class.

The first number of the course was given October 29, by four girls who were brilliant musicians and entertainers. One young lady played the piano, another the flute, the third a violin cello, and the fourth a violin. Miss Dorothy Shinn, the violinist, had entertained Fairmount audiences before in company with Mrs. Victor Payne. The girls were talented singers and one was especially gifted as a reader and impersonator. The unique part of the program was a clever little playlet entitled "School Days."

The second number was given December 3, by Harold E. Banta, an impersonator, cartoonist, and musician. Mr. Banta's program included pianologues, character impersonations, picture drawing, humorous talks, songs, and many jokes. Mr. Banta showed great ability in his impersonations of an English nobleman, of a good old New England deacon, and of an Italian. He concluded his program with an impersonation of Abraham Lincoln, giving the Gettysburg address. Throughout the entire evening the audience was kept laughing at the cleverness and humor of Mr. Banta.

On February 12, Mr. Robert G. Kemple was to have delivered an address for the third number, but was unable to keep his engagement because of illness. However, a substitute was sent in the person of Mr. Robert Burns. Mr. Burns gave a stirring lecture on Abraham Lincoln. He knew every phase of his subject well and presented his material in a pleasing, forceful manner.

"The Poors" came in March with a program that brought the lyceum course to a fitting close. Mr. and Mrs. Poor have had much experience as entertainers and musicians and their numbers were given with a touch which only they could give. The couple pleased the audience very much with their excellent program.

The Seniors won success through the co-operation of the patrons of Fairmount and through the skillful work of George Shore, manager, and his co-workers.

WHO MAKES THE JUNIOR PEP?

All Juniors are divided into three groups, one of which ambition controls, another good times, and the third who in their own language are called go-betweens, but are called real scouts in ours. All of these differ from each other in appearance, habits, and speech. Actions distinguish the ambitious from the pleasure-seekers, hard work distinguishes them from the go-betweens.

The ambitious are the bravest of all these, because they are the farthest away from pleasure-seeking; excitement seldom thrills them; and they study that which pertains to strengthening their minds. They are nearest to the teachers who sit at their desks; and with whom they continually carry on conferences. Likewise the students excel the remaining ambitious ones in grades, because they contend in almost daily struggles with long assignments.

The pleasure-seekers arise from the border of the go-betweens, they lean toward hooky-players, hall-loafers, and the Declaration of Independence Class.

The third group of these, which it has been said the scouts compose, starts with the athletes; it is made up of musicians, comedians, and Latin sharks; it also touches upon librarians and literature students, and extends from Bible students to the basket ball men and the Student Council. It is half-way between the ambitious and the pleasure-seekers. It is the group to which the majority of Juniors belong and which makes our class so peppy.

A PSALM OF JUNIOR LIFE

Tell me not in mournful numbers
 That next year we will be Seniors;
 Thought of that last year encumbers
 Minds and hearts of jolly Juniors.

Lessons are hard, but time is fleeting,
 And we do not toil for fun;
 Hearts like bursting drums are beating,
 When we hear, "Good work, well done!"

Lives of great men all remind us
 We can do our work just fine,
 And departing leave behind us
 Good works on the sands of time.

Good works, and perhaps some other
 Seeing this result is ours
 Will in our rough path discover
 His own aid to life's best flowers.

Let us then be up and doing,
 With a heart for any fate;
 Dear old Juniors, still pursuing
 Up until we graduate.

THE PSALM OF CLASS 27

Mr. Neel is our Superintendent; we shall not want.
 He maketh us to get our lessons;
 He leadeth us by the rules of the school.
 He restoreth our grades;
 He guideth us through the deep waters for the school's name's sake
 Yea, though we study hard on our lessons,
 We shall not fear; for the teachers cooperate with us.
 We won from the Seniors in the presence of our enemies.
 They anointed our class with honor;
 Our school days will soon be over.
 Surely the thoughts that we attain in F. H. S. will follow us all of the days of our lives;
 And we shall dwell in the memories of F. H. S. forever.

MILESTONES OF OUR SOPHOMORE YEAR

Our vacation finds us thankful for returning health of body and grateful for the wonderful world into which we have been born. We never lose our awe as we look at an English tree or a Mathematic fern or a Latin covered log.

Oh, Youth did dance so joyfully and Death did frown so grouchingly when the Toxin-Anti-Toxin was put to use by F. H. S. My, it was worth a dollar to hear the upper classmen groan when they were called to room 26.

There comes a time, in every life, when the cares of the moment seem overwhelming; when doubts assail us, and fears beset us, and bitterness lurks in wait, just around the corner. When we hesitate to give our final decision they say, "tomorrow" will be too late.

Sometimes, during a time of bitterness and doubt, Thanksgiving comes. Sometimes—with a burst of radiance and glory—we can sense the presence of a harvest time. Thanksgiving flings a challenge out across the coming semester for harder work and better grades.

These early lessons have been beneficial to us through all our high school life and our future greatness will be attributed to our associations and intimate relations with the greatest class that ever entered F. H. S.

Truth has its own reward. We might boast of our greatness, but we prefer the truth, knowing that it is mighty and will prevail. We believe that we are a great class and we believe that it is a part of greatness to be truthful and give that merit where merit is due, to the class of 1927—that class who, by their kindly teaching, their precept, their example and their condescension in generous association, have made us second to no other class that has ever entered the high school. We yield only to those who are worthy of the honor.

Now every road, tree, and stream is calling us to Junior island.

Bee! Bee! Bumble Bee!
 Humpty Dumpty, Who Are We?
 Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star,
 We are Sophomore's, So We Are!

ORGANIZATIONS

ROLL OF HONOR

The Honor Roll of Fairmount High School has for the past two years been selected on the basis of superior scholarship and citizenship.

The following students are on this roll for the first semester of the school year, 1924-1925:

John Whybrew	Edna Coffin	Lavelda Rigsbee
Miriam Overman	Pearl Ellingwood	Fred Burnside
Mabel Coffin	Walter Garrison	Mildred Scott
Marcile Brookshire	Ruth Hoskins	Helen Leach

Recently the Honor Committee has worked out a plan designed to recognize more adequately the needs of the well-rounded individual. The purpose of education is three-fold: spiritual, intellectual, and physical; therefore the student who is the best potential citizen is one who consistently evidences qualities of good school citizenship, at least average scholarship, and a healthy interest in matters pertaining to physical development.

Any student excelling in some particular line and possessing these necessary qualifications of a good citizen is already on a Roll of Honor and deserves some formal recognition for it, such as the awarding of a monogram.

Also an Honor Society has been formed composed of the honor students who are either seniors or second semester juniors. The purpose of this society is to provide better school spirit and to encourage high scholastic attainment.

THE STUDENT COUNCIL

"Oh, Dad! I was elected to the Student Council today. Isn't that great?"

Student Council? Now what kind of an organization is that?" he asked.

"Why, haven't you heard of that before? Fairmount High School has had a Council for six years now."

"I suppose," he said, "it is some kind of a club."

"No, it isn't," I explained, "it is an organization of the students that helps the teachers to officially govern the school. It is like Congress in that it can frame a law and like the Government under the Articles of Confederation in that it lacks the power of enforcement."

"Well, well—I'm learning something every day, although I am getting up in the years. Tell me more about this Council of your High School. It does look as if it were a good thing."

"Each class is represented in the Council. The Seniors have three representatives, the Juniors three, Sophomores two, Freshmen two, and the Junior High School two, one from the seventh and eighth grades respectively."

"The Council elects its president, vice-president, and secretary-treasurer. They hold regular meetings on alternating Wednesdays and discuss any matter of business that is introduced."

"There are some very important matters discussed in these meetings. We try to produce a better school spirit by helping the students to be more loyal. We are a connecting link between the students and the teachers. We introduce and discuss various suggestions for bettering our school. After much thoughtful deliberation these suggestions are put to a vote. If they are passed by a two-thirds majority of the Council, they are brought up for discussion in faculty meeting. Usually the members of the faculty welcome these suggestions from this representative group because students are in a position to see matters from a different angle than that of the adult. But if the teachers think the suggestion is not worthy of enforcement, it cannot become a law. Like Congress, the Council makes the law and the teachers sign or veto it. The faculty decision is final."

"I'm glad to hear that my son is on a council of this sort," replied Dad, "and I hope that you will not neglect your work in this line."

THE ATHLETIC BOARD

The Athletic Board of Fairmount High School automatically consists of a member of the Board of Education, the principal of the school, the coach, the director of girls' physical training, and the president and secretary of the Student Council. These offices, respectively, are held by Mr. S. B. Hill, Mr. L. H. Wellman, Mr. Paul White, Mrs. M. A. Winslow, Fred Burnside, and Esther Wright.

This board, acting in behalf of the athletic association made up of the entire student body, finances all branches of athletics. The basketball season of 1924-25 was quite successful financially and the association gave to the certified men black slip-over sweaters trimmed with gold bands, service stripes and the letter "F," as awards for their work during the season. The following received sweaters: Charles Lafler, Luther Burkett, Thelman Lewis, Manson Jones, Glenn Huston, Harry Weaver, Virgil Creek, Ernest Blair, and Joe Leach.

In the spring of 1925 both baseball and track was offered. In order to have a better place to play baseball and also to improve the view of the track of Rush field, the athletic association decided to level off the embankment on the south and west of the field and fill in the gravel pit.

The board and athletic association back any athletic team which represents Fairmount High. It is their aim to instill the members of each team with high standards of sportsmanship; to make the contestant feel he must give his very best for the glory of the school and game, forgetting personal glory. If any player slips for a time it should be the aim to try to raise him to the standards which have been set for him, rather than to "kick" and "let lay."

"Let us raise our athletics to the standard we wish them to be and keep them there!"

LIBRARY STAFF

In the Library one day I met an old, old man; very bent and broken by age. He told me his name was Dictionary and that he had been a resident of the Library ever since its existence.

I was very eager to hear what the old fellow would say about the Library and was pleased when he adjusted his cane, smoothed his long white hair and began in his squeaky voice:

"It's a long story. You see at first the Library was in front of that assembly," he said, pointing with his crooked, trembling finger to the study hall.

"Then they moved us to the back of the room and caged us in." Here he stopped and tears rolled down his cheeks.

"There's where my hair turned white, back there where I could just peek from the netting, and there is where they let my beard grow. But there we outgrew our cage so they put us in this room, all by ourselves, just south of the assembly. I began to spry up a bit and I heard things that kept my life very happy and full of fun. I feel very important for I helped the Library sponsor, Lenore Ramsey, to get her education.

"Just look about this Library, see the busts over there and the Bas-relief of The Signing of the Declaration of Independence over there on the wall, all given by the class of '24. They say this is some Library as everything is classified and catalogued by author, title, and number. You see there are all kinds of books and encyclopedias in here.

"Books come and go but to the best of my ability to see, as my eyes are getting dim, there are about three thousand five hundred volumes of books not to mention pamphlets, stereoscope pictures, and magazines, in here," he said, gesticulating with his cane.

The Speciman and Trophy case which is located in the south part of the building is sponsored by the Library. During the school year, a collection of foreign laces, Mexican pottery, war relics, Serbian clothing and embroidery, and antique dishes, together with the Trophies won by the High School, have been exhibited through the use of this case.

HISTORY OF THE ORCHESTRA

Mary Sample said: "Let there be an orchestra," and there was one. This orchestra became a part of the school curriculum and met twice a week during the school year. The course, however, was some different from the first orchestra course that is now offered in that lectures on the lives and works of famous composers were given to the members by the music instructor.

The next year, 1922, the orchestra was supervised by Miss Sample. This year the members bent their efforts toward classical music and they were highly praised for the excellent manner in which they rendered it.

The 1923 orchestra was the first Fairmount High School orchestra to meet five times a week, using a full school period each day. During this year the orchestra furnished music for many events which took place inside and outside the school.

The twenty members making up the 1924 orchestra were directed by a new conductress, Mrs. Hildebrand, who with her pleasing personality, soon won the friendship and cooperation of all the members, causing them to respond readily to her efficient instruction.

This year, 1925, after mastering Ermine, (I am sure no one in the last assembly will forget Ermine), they centered their attention on popular music, which has been played at every basket-ball game on the home floor.

In addition to playing at games and convocations, the orchestra appeared on various other occasions, among which were the entertainment at the Friends Church and the operetta, "The Toreador."

THE GIRL'S GANG

The Girl's Gang of the F. H. S. was organized by Mr. Hamilton in 1923. He had long seen the need of this organization in the school, but not until the school year 1923-24 did he see the plans carried through. He appointed for Dean of this work Mrs. Hildebrand, whose ability has been proved successful from every angle. She has been faithful and always willing to help those who come to her for advice.

The chief purposes of the Girl's Gang are to establish a more friendly relation between the girls and their Dean, to make new students feel more at home, and to fall in line with the school activities.

The officers in this organization are president, vice-president, secretary-treasurer, and chairmen of the committees. Those officers make up the cabinet. The different committees are social, program, and service.

Through the service committee we put into practice our ideals for sharing the interests of those who need us in our school or wherever we may be.

The program committee is a very busy one. The Girl's Gang meets once a week for a half hour in a social gathering. Every other week the program committee has an interesting program consisting of short plays, musical numbers, readings, and talks by members of the faculty. Other meetings are devoted to the business of the organization.

The social committee is always a busy one. Its duty is to foster a friendly spirit. It is responsible for getting the girls in "get-to-gether" meetings for jolly good times.

The Girl's Gang had a contest for larger attendance at the meetings as we knew some were missing something worth while. Although young our organization has been a real success.

It is our sincere desire that this organization continue in F. H. S., for we feel that it has been a great benefactor.

ATHLETICS

BLACK AND GOLD

The first game of the season came about on November 7. This game was with Gas City. The only dope on the Gas City team was that they were hitting a heavy stride. Since this was Fairmount's first game everyone wanted to see the boys in action and we believe about everyone did. The results proved that Coach "Whitie" had put a considerable amount of basket-ball into their heads. Both teams played real basket ball for the first of the season, but Gas City's defense could not hold down the local lads' offense. Burkett, the new back guard, showed up well. Fowler, Jones, Lafler, and Lewis displayed some real stuff. The result of the game was 37 to 22 in favor of Fairmount.

Manson
Jones

The Warren game was an exceedingly fast game. Fairmount had more polish than in the game with Gas City. The Black and Gold team snatched the victory from the Warren quintet, displaying a wonderful brand of basket ball during the final few minutes of the game. The score book showed 27 to 25 in Fairmount's favor.

In the game with Greensburg, our opponents hung on against odds with desperate attempts to stop the sweeping attacks of the invaders but Fairmount's Hardies dribbled, passed, and shot through the Greensburg line with remarkable skill. At the end of the first half the score was 6 to 10 in favor of Fairmount.

Thelman
Lewis

The Fairmount team kept up the 100 per cent record by defeating Knightstown. The battle was a see-saw, hair-raising fight, with the lead switching from one team to the other. At the end of the first half Knightstown led to the tune of 15 to 13. But the Fairmount team came back in the last half and won the game in the final few minutes of the play when Huston scored an under-the-basket goal on an out of bound play. The score stood 31 to 29 when the gun cracked.

Charles Lafler

BLACK AND GOLD

The fifth consecutive victory of Fairmount's basket ball season was the defeat of the Converse team. The Fairmount fans were on edge all of the time for the tall Converse shooters tickled the draperies with keen accuracy. Fowler, Jones, Lewis, and Burkett were the big factors in the Fairmount victory, while Harper and Sounders showed up best for Converse. The score was 28 to 21 in favor of Fairmount.

The Greentown team fell an easy prey to the dashing Fighting Five shooters, the score being 48 to 16 in favor of Fairmount. Coach White started three substitutes who played the Greentown lads to a standstill. The Black and Gold had 30 points to Greentown's 5 at the end of the first half. Lafler tossed four baskets and Huston two, while Jones scored six fielders.

The North Manchester High School team rather lowered Fairmount's ears as well as their 100 per cent mark, but North Manchester men confessed that they had accomplished a real feat. It looked as though Fairmount had the game hooked when they led at the end of the first half. Brilliant long shots and snappy passing by the North Manchester High School team resulted in a final score of 28 to 35 in favor of North Manchester.

Tough luck overtook Fairmount when Lapel defeated the Fighting Fives in a desperate battle. Jones, the regular center, could not play on account of illness. Although playing over this handicap our boys led the Lapel team until the last few minutes of the game when Farmer, the Lapel center, threw a freak shot with one hand and thus made Fairmount one point behind.

Farmer very soon made another one and the gun cracked leaving the score 25 to 28 in favor of Lapel.

On New Year's eve the Marion team and about three or four hundred rooters came over to play the Fighting Five. The Beannoies, who averaged over six feet in height, started with three consecutive field goals before the Fairmount defenses seemed to get warmed up. Murphy Marion's six-foot-four man, was the highest individual scorer for either side. Although Fairmount fought as hard as she could Marion was not in danger any of the time. At the end of the game the score was 32 to 43 in favor of Marion.

Fairmount next journeyed over to Noblesville and walloped them to a tune of 39 to 18. Lewis the Fairmount floor-guard, was red-hot, caging five field goals back of center. Noblesville fought hard, but could not suppress the Fairmount team's fast offense.

Wabash's desperate "Thom Cats" were unable to cope with the speed and passing of the Fighting Quintet and dropped another game 47 to 21. Although much of the playing was ragged, the Fairmount team passed in fair style, and every regular contributed to the scoring. In the last five minutes of the game the substitutes were given a chance to strut their stuff

Greensburg, determined to gain revenge for the defeat handed them by Fairmount earlier in the season, upset the dope bucket by beating Fairmount on her home floor in a hectic, terrific, battle, and took a victory from Paul White's quintet by one point, 32 to 31.

The following game which was with Noblesville, was rather a slow one, the score being 32 to 26 in favor of Fairmount. Fairmount did not hit the usual stride and had rather an off-night on hitting baskets.

January 24, Marion again defeated the Fighting Five by a six point margin. The game was fast and both teams showed good defense. Fairmount fought hard but could not withstand Marion's tall offense.

The Fighting Five lived up to their moniker and threw a big scare into the Hartford City team and fans at Hartford. The opposing team led at the end of the first half, but Fairmount staged a sensational rally and tied the score. Then Hartford threw two exceedingly long shots and Fairmount threw a fowl still leaving the Fairmount team three points short. The final score was 28 to 25 in favor of Hartford.

On Feb. 7, Fairmount again overcame the Wabash Thom Cats with a score of 51 to 18. The game was the roughest game of the season. Although the score sounds rather one-

Harry Weaver sided the game was a real struggle. The Thom Cats fought from start to finish but were not able to prevent the passing, dribbling, and shooting of the Fairmount players.

In the next game Greentown was defeated by an overwhelming majority, the score being 51 to 21. Lafler was injured in this game, being struck by an opposing player.

When Hartford City came here Fairmount received her much desired revenge for the defeat handed them in the earlier part of the season. This game was a thriller. Both the Fairmount and Hartford fans were on edge all of the time and none were able to decide who would win the game until the final crack of the gun. Creek played a stellar game for Fairmount. Hartford led at the end of the first half but the final score was 31 to 30 in our favor.

On the night of Feb. 27, Fairmount defeated the Warren team at Warren. The Fighting Five passed in very good style and

Paul White had a good night on hitting the basket. The Coach score was 45 to 30 in favor of Fairmount.

Wow! The Jonesboro Zebras defeated the Fairmount team by a score of 37 to 20. Although Fairmount, playing over the handicap of Jones' being ill, struggled with her greatest effort, she could not hold down "Shoe" Barton who played on the Zebra team.

ACTIVITIES

FRESHMAN RECEPTION

On September 19th the Freshmen were quaking in their boots and casting apprehensive glances toward the upper classmen for they were to be initiated that night. They surely received a big dose. After much preliminary excitement, their faces were given a coat of shoe polish and they were ushered into the gymnasium where the sight-seers had assembled. After being walked off into space and jerked off their feet, the boys were told to take part in a race. They rolled peanuts across the gymnasium floor with their noses, amid shouts of laughter and cracks of the paddle as it descended upon some unfortunate lad. Everyone who attended the party proclaimed it a huge success and agreed that it was a thriller.

LIBRARY

Dear Bobby:—You should have been with us last evening after school. The library staff had a hamburger fry in the Home Economics rooms. We played games and then fried and ate our hamburgers. After the boys (???) washed the dishes, we played some more games. The best stunt was Lloyd's proposal to Helen Delong. At 7:30 we all went down to the gym to the basketball game. You certainly missed a good time. I'll tell you more about it when I see you.

As ever,
BERTHA MAE.

FRESHMAN B RECEPTION

One evening in January immediately after school the first semester class gave a welcome party for the incoming Freshmen.

The 9B's were first entertained with a basketball game, the two teams, the Creams and Blues, being chosen from the Freshman class. At the close of this, Morita Mason read the selection "Betty at the Base Ball Game." We next witnessed the eventful journey of the Human Ford to the fair. Many games followed including double supper, after which we were ushered to the Home Economics rooms for the real supper, which all enjoyed. The class then attended the Fairmount-Noblesville game in a body.

FRESHMAN PARTY

October 3 heralded the Freshman party. It was to be a grand affair, and oh! how secret! Yet after all the camouflages several of the upper classmen found it out and became uninvited guests. It was held at the home of Pauline Jones and after the party had assembled the group adjourned to Jones' pit where everyone partook of roasted weiners and marshmallows. Later they returned to the house and were entertained by readings, jigs, and solos which delighted all. Besides the Freshmen, Miss Gregg, Mr. Schell, and Mr. Wellman were present.

HIGH SCHOOL HALLOWE'EN PARTY

Little pumpkins, which told us that on October 30th the High School would give a masquerade, were passed out to each student. They certainly did their duty, for such a medley of witches, old men and women, fortune-tellers and clowns as assembled at the gymnasium was never seen before. After passing through dark passages and meeting many of the departed, they finally arrived at the gymnasium which was most artistically decorated with autumn leaves and pumpkin heads. When all the guests had assembled a grand march was held after which prizes were awarded to the ones wearing the cleverest and the craziest costumes. Every one unmasked and then refreshments of pop-corn balls and big, red apples were served. A pantomime of famous characters was very cleverly carried out by several students. After wishing each other a good-night, the merrymakers departed.

J. H. S. PICNIC

September 26 hailed the J. H. S. to come outdoors. About two o'clock away they went to Terwilleger's woods. There they enjoyed weiners and marshmallows, and played games. Mrs. Gilbreath told the fortunes of each and then they started back to town, tired out but full of eats and fun.

THE "D" OF "I" CLUB

A secret society which is composed of the culprits of Fair week has been organized. Mr. Wellman elected himself Master of Ceremonies and has instructed everyone to learn the Declaration of Independence as the creed of their organization. This club has caused considerable excitement among the other scholars, but no one has shown excessive enthusiasm about joining as yet.

BLACK AND GOLD

GIRLS' HIKE

About thirty members of the Girls' Gang of F. H. S., accompanied by Mrs. Hildebrand and Miss Arnold, hiked to Heavelin's woods east of town on November 6, starting from the school house about four o'clock. There they roasted weiners and marshmallows and played many games. After supper they sat around the campfire and sang songs. About seven o'clock having "filled up" on weiners and fund and hoping that some time soon, they might enjoy another such good time they started home.

SENIOR WEINER ROAST

Knicker clad the Seniors of F. H. S. could be found one night in October at a huge weiner roast on Bul-ler's farm. The bunch went to the scene of revelry in automobiles. Upon their arrival they were greeted by a huge bonfire. The enormous appetities of our mighty Seniors were soon apparent from the way weiners and marshmallows were made to vanish. Games were played and jokes, which to the Seniors, were quite humorous were enjoyed. Several members of the Alumni were guests of the Seniors on this night besides the sponsors and other members of the faculty.

"Gee! didn't we have lots of fun?" and the answer was, "We sure did!"

The Junior party which was held on February 6, at the home of Mrs. Winslow, was a Valentine party. When the guests had all assembled, blank telegrams were passed with the instructions to write a telegram, each word of which was to begin with one of the letters in the word "Valentine." Paul Hoffman won first prize. Then they were divided into four groups, which were represented by various colored hearts and which were to participate in several stunts. The purple hearts won first place in the contests. Refreshments of cakes and ice cream were served after which everyone bade their hostess good-bye.

SOPHOMORE PARTY

For once the Sophomores had almost enough ice cream and cookies to eat. They enjoyed a jolly time at the home of Louise Wallace Friday, March 27. Music and games were the main features of the evening. A few upper classmen, hoping to enjoy the refreshments, attended from without. Although their plans did not bring them success, they seemed to get just as much enjoyment out of the party as did the Sophomores.

THE ALUMNI OF F. H. S.

The Alumni of Fairmount High School were true classmates.

They held and still hold genuine interest in the school and its activities.

Their aim was to achieve success for themselves and their school, and thus they won respect of all about them.

No greater compliment can be paid any group of students than to say they have always had the honor of their school and country at heart; such can be said of the Fairmount High School Alumni.

And you who follow in their wake
We welcome. And to those who take
Their final leave with glories won,
A blessing that four years of trial
Were not in vain, but worth the while.

DO YOU REMEMBER

Class of 1901—Do you remember the first Senior class play, “One Year,” given at Parker’s Opera House? —Will Parrill, ’01.

Do you remember a spring hike to Pike—and the next morning’s walk to Principal’s Office? —Glenn Moon, ’02.

Do you remember when the school presented the musical comedy, “Phyllis, the Farmer’s Daughter,” at Parker’s Opera House in 1900? —Emma Duling, Class ’02.

I wonder how many of the Alumni remember the “Girls’ Glee Club” we used to have in our time. Elsie MacDonald was the instructor. —Gladys Edwards Cox, ’03.

Do you remember the games of basket ball in the attic of the Washington Street building? —Tony Payne, 04.

Class of 1907,—Bring back the “Family Treasure” with its ruffled covers,
No physiology book could have so many lovers.
—Mary Latham McTurnan.

Greetings Class of 1908—Seventeen years ago—yes, it must be true, a “small but mighty” class of ten graduated from F. H. S.
—Fern Payne Compton.

Class 1910—Remember the hikes to “botany glen” with Prof. Copeland, the bonfire, and the usual big steaks to roast?
—C. Clyde Payne, M. D.

Class of 1912—Do you remember Bill Skinner’s coming to school wearing a string of blue beads, guaranteed to cure colds?
—Byron Traster.

Class of 1913—Do you remember raising the Senior Class Flag on Arbor day—when Harry Davis fell through the auditorium ceiling and the class paid the bill? Do you remember the shade of green paint the boys used on the ceiling of the auditorium?
—Josephine Burgan Kelsay and Jennie Monahan, ’13.

Oh! How those Seniors of the 1914 class could sing in Chapel, under the guidance of Kate Holliday Elliott.
—Thurman Lewis, ’14.

BLACK AND GOLD

Do you remember in the days of our youth, those combustible experiments in Chemistry Class?
—Elsie Lees, 1920.

Do you remember the day, when we were Juniors, that George Lyons came to school in knee trousers, blouse waist, and red bow tie?
—Mary Hollingsworth Truss, '21.

Class of 1924—Memories: "Lib's" and "Doc's" giggles—Mouldy's tumbles on the B. B. floor—Lowell's poetry at the class play?
—Alice Ramsey.

7. First battle on the hardwood. Our boys walloped Gas City to the tune of 35-22.
10. Mr. Blair is very saving of electricity in assembly.
13. Jim Townsend tips over chair in rear of assembly.
14. Merl Ross and Ruth Hildebrand elected yell leaders. Warren game. Library Staff party—who said A. B. C.?
17. Latin classes see movies of Ceasar's time. Independence Class meets.
18. Winter arrives unexpectedly arrayed in her new white lace gown.
20. Declaration of Independence Class meets.
23. A bright Senior wonders why Miss Arnold doesn't sit down!!!
- 27-28-29-30. Thanksgiving vacation.

DECEMBER

1. Teachers are all back on time to begin work.
2. Independence Class dismissed until next year when a new one will probably be organized.
3. Latin Girls give shower for Miss Arnold.
5. Greentown game. Real movies in Convocation.
8. Hello, Joe! F-i-r-e!!!
10. Pearl E. and Gerald E. hold peace conference.
11. Only fourteen more days till Christmas. Do your Christmas shopping early.
12. Manchester vs. Fairmount—Sh!
- 14-16. Why does James R. sit so near Dorothy Sheedy in the assembly?
18. Independence Class reorganized.
19. FOUND—In Library: Betty Johnson and Fred Jones reading "Good House-keeping Magazine."
- 20-28. Christmas vacation. Studies deserted—no assignments.
"Their wedding life began, I've heard;
This December, twenty-third."
29. And we hear all about it in Latin Classes. Two grains of rice.

JANUARY

1. B'lieve I'd better leave out to-day.
6. What's this? Delores and M——n?
8. Mr. Hamilton announces that he will leave January 30. What will we do without him?
13. Cram begins. Charles Lafler is found studying his Chemistry lesson.
14. Girls' Physical Training Classes give Convocation. Exemption lists read. Seven out of ten county prizes are awarded to students of F. H. S. for lighting contest.
- 15-16. Examinations! I haven't time to write nor anybody time to read in a time like this.
19. Enrollment for new semester.

BLACK AND GOLD

21. Study begins again—for Melver Cain.
- 23-24. Jazz band at Convocation. Might also report crowd in Civic Hall at Marion.

4. The Blues won.
6. District Tournament. We spend week end.
7. Marcile Brookshire is winner of county Latin contest.
9. Latin classes return to find Jerry mourning for the deceased Jonah.

This is an ode to Jonah:

The little fish that died,
The Latin ten class buried him
And Lavelda Rigsbee cried.
Spud Jones preached the sermon,
Then all went to the grave;
Jim and Vic carried Jonah,
Who always had been brave.
Chick with grief was overcome
When we laid the fish to rest
But with these words we left him:
"Jonah mortus est."

—Lloyd Smith.

BLACK AND GOLD

13. Movies, "Pots and Pans Peggy." Ditto, "Covered Wagon."
16. Ruth Bevington: "Is Bob here today, James?"

JOHN FLANAGAN

on April the 1st, 1925, will have accomplished what not one man in 10,000 has done.

That is, continued to sell merchandise in the same town to the same people, their children, and their grandchildren for 46 years and still continuing to sell them.

THERE MUST BE A REASON!

And there is a reason, or several of them.

Some of These Reasons Are:

Honest Merchandise. Honest Prices. Economic Methods in handling the business. Buying for cash and selling for cash as nearly as possible and trying if possible to always tell the truth.

TAKE A FRONT SEAT

A class was asked to write a theme of 150 words on an automobile and one small boy handed in the following:

"Once my uncle bought a car and took it out in the country about fifteen miles, when it stopped. This is only about 25 words but the other 125 are what my uncle said, walking back to town, but they aren't fit to write."

GOODWILL—

That asset known to every business—large or small—which has inestimable value—and only secured through years of good faithful service to the community.

Goodwill in newspaper publishing is “Reader Confidence.” And Reader Confidence is measured by the number of actual readers, who buy the paper regularly for the value of its news columns.

By reason of faithful service
